Subject: William STORER

Birth: — — — 1763 Monmouth County, New Jersey.

Note: — — — Thomas STORER (b. 1725, d. 1800); Monmouth County, New Jersey; Militia pay lists and rosters for various companies, as well as other documents, include members of the "Story" family, Thomas, John, Samuel and William, shown in Freehold and Upper Freehold. John is also shown to have signed at least two petitions to provide more strict rule against Tories.

Note: — — — Monmouth County, New Jersey; Served under Capt. John Covenhoven in the 1st Regimental militia, Monmouth Co., NJ, in 1780.

Note: — — — Among the residents in 1790 of those parts of townships Fallowfield and Nottingham, which later became Carroll Township of Washington County, were William, Stacy and Richard Storer.

Marriage: circa — — — 1792 Sarah PIERCE (b. circa 1778, d. after Jul 1812)

Note: between 1792 and 1796 William and Sarah's land transactions included 1792 receipt from her father of a joint ownership, with brother Lewis and his wife, of land from Christopher Haydon's patent (including a grist mill), of which they sold one-third interest to brother-in-law Benjamin Foster in 1793. In 1796, Lewis Pearce and William Storer, with their wives, sold their shares to Benjamin Parkison.

Note: 5 Sep 1796 After having sold his portion of the Haydon property in Allegheny Co., William Storer, with Benjamin Foster, bought 248 acres in Brooke Co., VA from John Van Buskirk and his wife Betsy.

Note: — — — Sarah PIERCE (b. circa 1778, d. after Jul 1812); Brooke County, Virginia; William seems to have been an upstanding citizen during the family's sojourn in Brooke County, Virginia, (later West Virginia). Court records show him as being a member of more than one Grand Jury. His administration of the estate of Samuel Baxter also showed up in court documents. An interesting sidelight of these records is the notation that witnesses in court cases were paid 53 cents per day; both William and his brother in law, Benjamin Foster, were witnesses in at least one case. Though William and Sarah sold their Brooke County land to Benjamin Foster in June 1805, they apparently remained there for over a year, as he shows up in court records on a jury, as a witness, and as plaintiff for the estate of Samuel Baxter, of which he was administrator, until October 1806. Of course, the distances not being great, the appearances in August and October could have been accomplished by a return to the county from Jefferson Co., Ohio Brooke Co. tax records from 1797 through 1801 show that William Story (sic) had 3 horses and paid 18 cents in tax in 1797, 3 horses and 27 cents in 1798, 1799: 1 horse and 24 cents; 1800: 2 horses and 24 cents; 1801: 2 horses and 24 cents. No tax information for the other years in which the Storers lived there. This information shows them in Virginia as early as 1797.

Note: 24 Jun 1805 Sarah PIERCE (b. circa 1778, d. after Jul 1812); William Storer and Sarah, his wife, sold to Benjamin Foster, for the sum of $806, their share of the 246 acres which they had jointly bought from John Van Buskirk in 1796.

Note: — — — The first Holmes church was built in 1803, called Holmes Meeting House, because of Jacob Holmes. who owned the land. In 1810, a new church was built because of floods, and the deed was to Jacob Holmes, John Stoneman, William Storer, Jacob Jones, James Smith, S. Moore, E. Pierce, R. Moore, and John Barkhurst. Elias Crane preached at the laying of the cornerstone.

Note: — — — 1810 An index to early Ohio tax lists shows William Storer (sic) in Smithfield, along with Isaac Meek and several Leeches (Benjamin, John and William) who may have been related to William's second wife, Catherine. A look at the original tax lists in the Archives of the Ohio State Historical Society Library might provide other information, such as the amount paid, etc. Later tax lists were not included in the volume.

Note: — — — In the Western Herald newspaper for Nov. 6, 1811, J.P. John Morton certifies the appraisal of a colt, "taken up by John Chance, of Smithfield Township." The description and possible value were stated by William Storer and Alexander Raulins (?), appr's.

One Known Child

F Sarah STORER
